

April 2015

Dear Dr. Drooby,

We would like to introduce you to Hearts for Hearing, a non-profit audiology and speech-language practice here in Oklahoma City. We believe that better hearing is a process, and we are proud to offer specialized services and products as part of a total hearing healthcare program for your patients.

Not only are we specialists in diagnostic hearing testing (infants, pediatrics, adults, and geriatrics), hearing aids, cochlear implants, other amplification devices, and speech-language services, but we believe there are other tools that can be used to enhance your patients' hearing and communication skills. These include comprehensive, evidence-based interventions for tinnitus and auditory training/listening therapy.

Rest assured, we will work with you to help create a treatment plan best suited for your patients' needs. We have 8 doctors of audiology and 7 speech language pathologists who evaluate and treat disorders in infants, children, adults, and elderly. We invite you to learn more about our practice by contacting us or stopping by our office. We are conveniently located across from Integris Baptist Medical Center, at NW 56th Street and Portland Avenue. We accept many major insurances and enclosed is a list of those we accept. Please give this list to your referral coordinator.

We look forward to serving you and your patients in order to improve their quality of life for those with hearing loss.

Kind regards,

Rachel A. Magann Faivre, Au.D., COHC
Doctor of Audiology
Certified Occupational Hearing Conservationist

Kelsey Kuehn, Audiology Assistant
Adult Office Manager